An Evening Echo.

What poets feel not, when they make,
A pleasure in creating.

The world, in its turn, will not take Pleasure in contemplating.
—MATTHEW ARNOLD.

There seems to be a suspicion of petticoat politics in the incoming national administration.

The Democrats of Congress have thrown out a sop for the female voters in the woman suffrage states; but it is a sop and nothing more.

The trouble with ninety out of a hundred persons who complain about the high cost of living is that they try to appear what they are not.

It develops that Madero had his life insured for $37,000 in two New York companies. Those companies certainly took a gambler's chance when they issued the policies.

Wilson's alleged innovations that are said to be exciting Washington remind one of the tap on the wrist given by the seaphid in the ten, twenty, thirty melodrama.

Woodrow Wilson declines an invitation to become an honorary member of the Chevy Chase Club, which is one of the centers of social life in Washington. Huh! and piffle!

Democratic senators doubt the wisdom of Wilson's visiting the capitol to influence legislation; but as Democratic legislation is going to be innocuous there seems to be no occasion for the doubt.

When his nineteen-year-old bride asked for a kiss, Lesho Vigero, 22 years old, of Trenton, N. J., shot and killed her and then fatally shot himself. He told the police he was tired of kissing his wife every time he left home. It is a great pity he killed the girl, but a fellow like that ought to be dead.

Several harmless investigations and the passage of appropriation bills appear to have been the chief accomplishments of the outgoing Congress. Of all the things done, however, the most important in the eyes of the hungry Democrats was the passage of the outrageous and iniquitous pork bill.

E. D. Hupp, federal deputy marshal, should make a speakeasy raid in the big woods this side of Bridgeport. Report has it that a monstrous snake has been seen there, so big that it has to crawl right over the top of fences, which crumble like toothpicks under its enormous weight.

Congress has taken up in the usual hypocritical manner of the majority party the woman suffrage question.
A sub-committee has been instructed to investigate and report. The subcommittee will investigate and file a report, the report will be read and stuck in a pigeon hole, and that will be the end of the thing.

The Huerta government in Mexico has laid itself open to the suspicion of downright fabrication by asserting that the Madero regime committed gigantic frauds in the finances of that unfortunate country and emptied the treasury for its own enrichment. It was not commonly known that the treasury of Mexico had enough in it worth stealing.

It is stated that Tom Marshall is not to be a figurehead as vice president but is to help Woodrow Wilson govern the country. Marshall says that he learned many of Woodrow's ideas and found they were the same he had held for many years, and Wilson says he learned Marshall's views and found they were exactly in accord with his.

That is to say, so long as Marshall keeps his head shut and agrees with Wilson he can assist in governing the country. That will make him a figurehead figurehead, and as such he will be eminently satisfactory to the people.

Looting the Treasury.

Oh, no, the Democrats in Congress are not a bit extravagant, nor heedless of their party platform pledges. They are squandering the public money so recklessly and so absurdly as to make extravagance a feeble, inappropriate term for their course. The enormous pork bill is a glaring example, but not the only one. The postoffice appropriation bill has been padded to nearly three hundred million dollars, an amount several millions in excess of the last postoffice appropriation bill.

Until recently it was the custom in Congress not to provide for any public buildings in towns where postal receipts amounted to less than $10,000 per annum. This rule has been broken to pieces and thrown to the four winds by the present "saviors of the country." There are actually ninety-six violations of this wise provision in the pork bill.

Some of these sweet days the people will awake to the fact, which President Taft enunciated time and time again, that some sort of budget system must be adopted to regulate the expenditures of public funds. A limit, accurately based upon the revenues, should be placed somewhere—must be placed—to this senseless looting of the treasury.

MOUNT CLARE

MT. CLARE, Mar. 3—Marion Wolfe, meat market foreman, who was severely injured some time ago by being run over by an infuriated beef cow, has been taken to the Johns Hopkins hospital at Baltimore for treatment.

James A. Mills was slightly injured a week ago by falling from a load of hay to the ground, and his injuries are painful.

The wrecking of a freight train Friday morning a short distance south of the Byron depot, in which two box cars were turned over, delayed the early morning southbound passenger train until it was met by No. 1 from Pickens, and the passengers were transferred both ways.

The Rev. J. W. Dawson began a revival series of meetings in the Methodist Episcopal church here Sunday evening.

C. S. Holden, of Buckhannon, paid the town another business visit recently.

E. K. Stout, of Clarksburg, and R. E. L. Stout, of Bridgeport, visited Mrs. T. M. Sullivan recently.

G. C. Taylor, the efficient freight "hustler" at the depot here, has been promoted to second truck operator. Arthur Dawson, son of the Rev. J. W. Dawson, succeeds him in the freight department.

Henry Basel is preparing to make extensive improvements to his house by putting another story upon the entire structure and a large circular porch extending on two sides of the building.

Miss Isador Stout is visiting friends at Bridgeport.

Mrs. Claude Davidson was shopping in Clarksburg Thursday.

J. J. Louthier was a recent Clarksburg business visitor.

Wilson administration by Mrs.
Lydia W. Wickliffe of St. Francisville, La., who will seek the post for her-

The Boy and the Newspaper

By John P. Fallon.

One evening a boy came to his father as he was reading THE TELEGRAM, and told him that he was going to quit learning geography, as there was nothing interesting in it.

So the father said, "You're going into business after you leave school."

"Sure," replied the boy eagerly, taking it for granted that there was no more geography for him.

"Well, here's what a business man writes today," and he turned to an advertisement about Oriental Rugs, in which the life of the Orient was vividly portrayed.

"What do you think of that?" he queried.

"Bully," answered the boy.

"Now, that's geography."

The boy looked dismayed.

"There's more to geography," continued the father, "than names of places. You find out why we send to Italy for silks, to Germany for toys, and why other nations come to buy from us."

Read the advertisements in THE TELEGRAM closely and constantly every day for the most important news. They will tell you where to buy to best advantage. Encourage your boys and girls to follow them carefully and gain a knowledge of the romance of business.

Postal cards good for 1,000 free votes may be secured at Millers' for the Auto contest.

Property that is WORTH what you ask for it can be sold for that price—if you believe in advertising in the Telegram.

See our styles and compare prices before buying elsewhere. M. E. Black-Krohne, "The Milliner," 309 Bldg.

Look at some advertised real estate every few days. You'll acquire an education as to values that may be the making of your fortune. And you'll not only find buying opportunities, but you'll manage, somehow, to take advantage of some of them.
